1517 and all that ... The Relevance of the Reformation Today

A day conference run in partnership with the Newman Association and St Albans Cathedral Study Centre

Date: Saturday 28th October 2017 (10.30 – 3.30)

Venue: St Columba's College, St Albans

Cost: £30 (£10 for students) to include lunch

The Protestant Reformation, in its noble aim of radically purifying Christian belief and practice, convulsed Europe and led to massive fragmentation and conflict. The next centuries saw the resulting divisions spread throughout much of the world, with different western Christian traditions developing quite different heritage and cultures. The last 100 years has seen a re-examination of the Reformation goals and convergence towards greater Christian unity. What has been the impact of the Reformation on the world of today – religious and secular? Four speakers from a range of western Christian traditions will give their views, followed by a panel discussion.

Speakers:

Bishop Martin Lund (Bishop of the Lutheran church in Great Britain)

The Revd Canon Dr Charlotte Methuen (Anglican Priest, University of Glasgow)

The Revd Professor John Morrill (University of Cambridge, Roman Catholic Deacon)

The Revd Dr Patricia Took (former President of the Baptist Union of Great Britain)

There will be a Special Service and Symposium at Westminster Abbey, in partnership with the Council of Lutheran Churches on 31st October at Noon. It will be led by the Dean of Westminster, The Very Reverend Dr John Hall, and the Address will be given by the Archbishop of Canterbury, The Most Reverend and Right Honourable Justin Welby. A new anthem, commissioned for the occasion by Danish composer, Bent Sørensen, will be performed by the Westminster Abbey Special Service Choir.

The service will be followed by 'Liberated by God's Grace': a symposium, from 2.30 pm to 6.00 pm, in St Margaret's Church, Westminster Abbey. The symposium will bring together leading academics to analyse the ongoing impact of the Reformation and its effect on subsequent generations, not only for the Church but for social order, identity and culture.

It will be chaired by the Bishop of Kensington, The Right Reverend Dr Graham Tomlin, with contributors: Professor David Crankshaw, King's College, London; Professor Eamon Duffy, Magdalene College, Cambridge; The Right Reverend Dr Martin Lind, Bishop of the Lutheran Church in Great Britain; Professor Robert Stern, Sheffield University; and Professor Alexandra Walsham, Trinity College, Cambridge.

All are welcome to attend the service and symposium which both require free tickets.

The Very Reverend Dr John Hall, Dean of Westminster said

We are formed by our history. Events of the late 15th century and early 16th century, including the beginning of the Reformation in 1517, enabled the transformation of life in Europe and eventually beyond our own continent. But there was also violence and destruction and loss. As today we seek to draw our ever more networked and yet divided world into unity, we need to be reminded of the achievements of our forebears and the steps that brought us here, and resolve together to transform our world afresh through peace-building and reconciliation.

Reverend Torbjørn Holt, Chairman of the Council of Lutheran Churches, said

The Reformation led both to renewal and schism, and led to fundamental upheavals in Church and Society, for good and bad. We now see Churches coming together at institutional, congregational and personal level. The service in Westminster Abbey demonstrates our common urge to strive towards greater unity, so the world may believe.
